

THE FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
FSU/ASOLO CONSERVATORY FOR ACTOR TRAINING

***For Immediate Release***
September 9, 2014

FSU/Asolo Conservatory for Actor Training Presents
The Two Character Play — A Special Late Night Series Event

WHAT:

The FSU/Asolo Conservatory for Actor Training brings Tony Award© and Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Tennessee Williams' The Two Character Play to the stage for a one-night-only performance. Penned late in his life, this enthralling play-within-a-play follows two sibling actors as they confront their past by staging a play where they relive – and attempt to alter – their traumatizing childhood. As the plot pushes forward, the separation between memory and reality blurs, and they find themselves trapped in their past.

This special late night performance stars second year-Conservatory students Kevin Barber and Kim Stephenson under the direction of second year-Conservatory student Mark Comer. FSU/Asolo Conservatory for Actor Training Late Night Series performances are produced entirely by Conservatory students.

WHEN:

Monday, September 22, 2014 at 7pm

WHERE:

FSU Center for the Performing Arts
Cook Theatre
5555 N. Tamiami Trail
Sarasota, FL 34243

HOW:

This event is free and open to the public. No reservations or tickets are required. Voluntary donations will benefit the class of 2015's NYC Showcase. For more information about the FSU/Asolo Conservatory for Actor Training, visit www.asolorep.org.

Media Contact:

Natasha Goetz
941-351-9010 ext. 4820
natasha\_goetz@asolo.org